

Insert logo here

Logan Magruder

Senior Vice President
Berry Petroleum Company

Professional Experience

Logan Magruder is senior vice president of Berry Petroleum Company's Rocky Mountain and Mid-continent Regions and serves as the current president of the Independent Petroleum Association of Mountain States (IPAMS). Magruder has been involved in developing notable natural gas projects in the Rockies that evolved into major natural gas supply points. He has extensive operational and management experience in the Rockies, Gulf of Mexico, onshore Gulf Coast, California, Mid-Continent, and Canada.

Education

Magruder earned his degree in Petroleum Engineering from Louisiana State University in 1980 and completed the LSU Executive Business Program in 1989.

Industry/Community Leadership

He is active in many industry trade organizations. Magruder serves on IPAMS board of directors and executive committee. He was elected president of the Independent Petroleum Association in 2004.

Company Information

Berry Petroleum Company is a publicly traded independent oil and gas production company with over 100 million barrels of proved reserves and nearly 100 megawatts of electrical generating capacity. Berry has operations in several basins throughout the Rockies and is an active acquirer of Rocky Mountain assets. Additional company information is available at www.bry.com

IPAMS Information

IPAMS is a non-profit trade association representing more than 400 independent oil and gas producers, service and supply companies, banking and financial institutions and industry consultants in the Intermountain West. IPAMS was founded in 1974. More information is available at www.ipams.org.